AIMS

The aims of the International Research Seminar in Maritime, Port and Transport Law are many. First, it will offer post-PhD Researchers and PhD-students an opportunity to present their on-going research to each other and to receive valuable feedback on their on-going work from their Colleagues from the fields of Maritime, Port and Transport Law. Lawyers and advanced law students interested are invited to hear reports, and if necessary intervene with questions.

Second, each morning the program starts with an in-depth lectio magistralis given by leading Law Professor, Professor Rhidian Thomas (Swansea University), Professor Ignacio Arroyo Martinez (Universitat Autònoma de Barcelona), Professor Juan Ignacio Peinado Gracia (Universidad de Málaga), Professor Dr. Pinar Akan (Marmara University), on subjects of current interest.

Third, during the seminar participants will have excellent networking opportunities to improve or extend their international academic contacts in the fields of Maritime, Port and Transport Law. Moreover, on 3rd July will be held a Colloquium on “Port Regulation: the Present National Laws and the European Perspectives”, where Full Professors from different Universities and well known Scholars will present the most significant findings of their latest researches.

TARGET GROUP

Post-PhD Researchers and PhD-Students in the fields of Maritime, Port and Transport Law (both Private and Public Law and including Procedural Law, Jurisdiction and Conflict Law) from all over the World. The International Research Seminar is also open for attendance by legal practitioners and advanced law students of at least master level who have already successfully completed their course(s) in Maritime and/or Transport Law and who are interested in specializing further in these matters. The Friday Colloquium is open also to academics, legal practitioners and law students.

BASIC SET-UP

The time slots available for the various presentations by post-PhD Researchers and PhD-students are determined in 30 minutes each (20 min. for the presentation and 10 min. for the discussion). Presentations will be grouped together in sessions based upon the subject-matter. If necessary, parallel sessions will be scheduled to allow all PhD-students to present their research and obtain feedback from the audience.

LECTIO MAGISTRALIS

From the organizing and supporting Universities, four distinguished Law Professors have been confirmed to give a Lectio Magistralis to the participants of the International Research Seminar on topical subjects. The idea is to provide high level teaching to the PhD-students and advanced master students who in turn are expected to prepare for and participate actively in discussion during the master class. This year's confirmed speakers are: Prof. Dr. Rhidian Thomas, Prof. Dr. Ignacio Arroyo Martinez, Prof. Dr. Juan Ignacio Peinado Gracia, Prof. Dr. Pinar Akan.
